BONITTO

XL BONITTO

BONITTO XL is the latest injectable monophasic cross-linked sodium hyaluronate gel developed by Beauty Revolution which is based on Swiss product development technology, from equipment to process and from raw materials to finished products. Beauty Revolution is in strict compliance with the CE medical device certification standards for injectable sodium hyaluronate gel as to ensure the safety and efficacy of the product while differentiating it from other products in market. Monophasic products are more cohesive and more stable than biphasic products, effectively pushing over the tissues and providing significantly better volume restoring of the face than biphasic products.

L BONITTO

BONITTO L ranks among the most popular dermal fillers for deep wrinkles correction and facial sculpting. It has several admirable properties that help it deliver high patient satisfaction and outstanding results. In addition, although it is developed to provide temporary cosmetic rejuvenation results, it is long-lasting than most HA-based injectable implants. BONITTO L is one of the best in the armamentarium of BONITTO's lineup of skin fillers. It treats severe wrinkles and folds and can do many more things that make it versatile and highly effective. Moreover, it is a cosmetic rejuvenation treatment done with this product that does not come with any discomfort or harmful side effects for the patients.

M

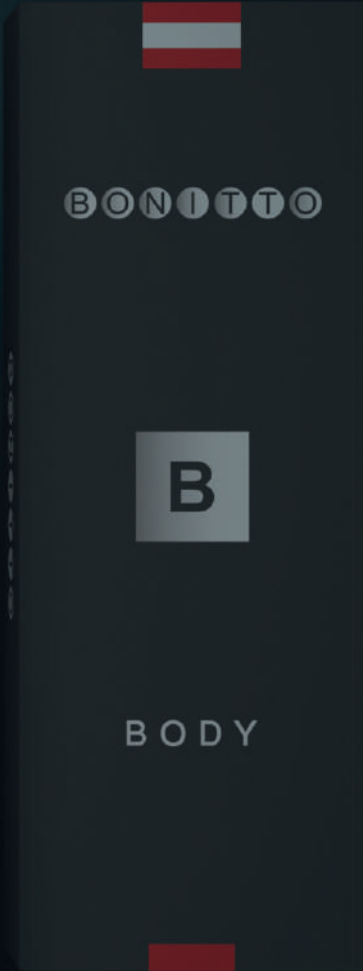

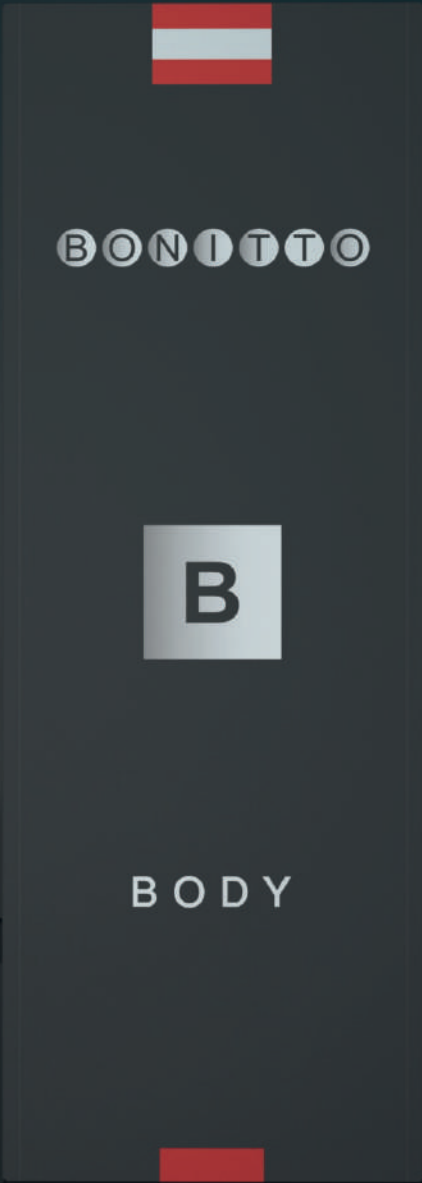

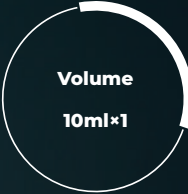

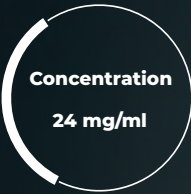

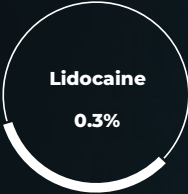

BONITTO

BONITTO M is one of the most popular lip fillers from Austria, manufactured by Beauty Revolution Company. BONITTO M filler contained 24 mg/ml of HA concentration compared to other lip fillers, which contain just 20mg/ml of HA concentration. BONITTO M can be injected into several different face areas to treat creases and wrinkles that have been affected by the natural aging process because it is produced from premium quality raw materials of non-animal origin, this filler is exceptionally safe and has a minimal side effects profile. This high-quality injectable gel is based on purified hyaluronic acid(HA).

B

BONITTO

BONITTO B is a monophasic dermal filler. It is more solid and durable compare to biophytic dermal filler. We provide great support and lift to good viscoelasticity. Besides, it is easy to be pushed through a needle. BONITTO B consists of modified hyaluronic acid(HA) produced by bacteria and 0.3% lidocaine, formulated to a concentration of 24mg/ml in a physiologic buffer.

IMPORTANT

No needle comes with this product, you will require an easy-trans and a separate sterile needle.
